NEW YORK OFFICE

The Princess of Wales Co.

New York, Feb. 20, 1896.

Dear Madam:—

MISS H. L. SHIMER—of our New York office,—a very accomplished Corset woman, will be at the store of J. R. Libby in your city all next week; beginning Monday, Feb. 24th, she goes to Portland to meet the ladies who wish to consult a corset expert concerning Corset buying, and Corset wearing, and to illustrate the merits of "Her Majesty's Corsets." There are two—open—secrets to comfortable and economical Corset wearing.

First: get the right Corset—that's "Her Majesty's."

Second: have the first putting-on done by an expert

Fitter; that opportunity will be given you next week.

Miss Shimer will be pleased to see you, and assist you to Corset comfort.

Mr. Libby has had a fitting room arranged for Miss Shimer's work.

Respectfully yours,

THE PRINCESS OF WALES CO.

Speeches of Sympathy in the Senate

THE PRESIDENT ASKED TO USE

The House Raises Indian Agents Salaries
Despite Dingley's Protest—An Effort to Create a Boom in the House for McKinley—The Senate Adjourns Till Saturday.

Washington, February 20.—A message from the Senate was received today announcing the passage of the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill with few unimportant amendments. The consideration of the Indian bill was resumed and Mr. Little, Democrat of Arkansas, addressed the committee in favor of a change of government in the Indian Territory. Mr. Wilson, Republican of Ohio, contended that what was wanted was education for the Indians. He introduced a McKinley boom, saying that Congress could never have money enough to educate the Indians until it passed a good old fashioned protective tariff bill.

The reading of the bill for amendment was begun. When the paragraph was reached providing for the pay of five Indian inspectors a motion was made to reduce their salaries from $3000 to $2500. That was done in the last two previous bills, and the action of the Indian commission fixing them at the
an office, met objection on both sides of the chamber. A motion to reduce the salaries was supported by Mr. Dingley.
He earnestly appealed to the committee of the whole not to follow the Indian commission in its policy of raising salaries and was answered by Mr. Crisp, who said that the proposed amendment to reduce the salaries of Indian inspectors was unjustifiable. The amendment was defeated 56 to 93. The committee then arose and the House adjourned.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, February 20.—The Senate took up Mr. Morgan's Cuban concurrent resolution declaring in the opinion of Congress a condition of public war exists between the government of Spain and the government proclaimed and for some time maintained by force of arms
by the people of Cuba and that the United States of America should maintain strict neutrality between the contending powers according to each of the rights of belligerents.
Mr. Cameron, Republican, offered a substitute for a concurrent resolution in these words: "The President is hereby requested to interpose his friendly offices
with the Spanish government for recognition of the independence of Cuba. He said for such Senators as wished to more strongly show their loyalty to the professions and traditions of American people, he would move the adoption of a joint resolution of the "good offices of the United States are earnestly recommended to the favorable consideration of the Spanish government for recognition of the independence of Cuba." He declared that that resolution was passed, and the Spanish government paid no attention to it. He said that the Senate had for the immediate recognition of the independence of Cuba.

Mr. Lodge offered a resolution, and Mr. Morgan, Democrat of Alabama, spoke next. He opposed in a very conservative line, and as he progressed and was drawn out by the enquiries of Senators Platt, Hoar and Hale, he expressed himself in no doubtful or hesitating language, in favor of taking a most advanced position. In reply to questions by Mr. Platt, Senator Morgan said that Congress had the right to recognize the belligerency or independence of Cuba and enforce recognition by military movements.

Mr. Chandler asked unanimous consent for the passage of the concurrent resolution declaring in the sense of Congress that the Cubans have just cause for revolution, and Congress hoped they would achieve independence.

Mr. Gray objected to this. Mr. Morgan was not able to finish his speech and will continue it Monday.

The Senate adjourned till Saturday.

HILL IS OUT.
No Longer the Manager of the Standard Theatre.

The Lease Sold for $15,000—Wm. Sell, Nephew of the Circus Man, the Purchaser—Recent Bad Luck of the House.

New York, February 19.—J. M. Hill is no longer manager of the Standard theatre. After a managerial experience in this city extending over 14 years Mr.
Hill consents today to be the head of a New York playhouse. He has sold his lease to William Sell, nephew of the well-known circus man, and a bearback rider himself.

The bonus paid for the transfer of the lease is $15,000, being at the rate of $1000 a year for the unexpired term of the contract, three years. The rental of the house is $24,000 a year, and the seating capacity about 3,100.
Mr. Hill has been forced to this by a succession of bad business that has given the Standard theatre the name of the
"hoodoo house" among the profession.
Play after play has failed, but Mr. Hill battled bravely to the end until his patience was exhausted and his finances impaired.

ILL LUCK CONTINUED.
At the beginning of the season it was rumored that he would not be able to continue unless he struck something good, and his many friends hoped that such would be the case. When he produced Augustus Thomas's "The Capitol," everybody wished him luck, but it came not.

The play was a failure, but Mr. Hill tried to boom it into popularity, with the result that he lost considerable money. Then came the one-week run of Sunderman's comic play, "Honor," and then "Miss Brown."

A TRAINER OF STARS.
The final blow to Mr. Hill's hopes was when, through a misunderstanding, his house remained dark for the last two weeks. Mr. Hill has always been considered the "squares" man in the theatre-ical profession, and his ill luck will be regretted by everyone who has had any knowledge of his sterling honesty and his refuting character.

Many a star has to thank Mr. Hill for his or her subsequent success. It was he who brought Margaret Mather, Daniel Thompson and Neil Sargent into the limelight of theatrical success, all three having made their first New York
hits in the old Union Square theatre,
now known as the Theatre de France.
Mr. Sell is new to the business, and his advisers will be watching him with curiosity. He will take charge today and will on Monday open the house with "Clummi Fadden."

VERY LOW.
Ex Governor Robinson Sinking Very Rapidly.

Chicopee, Mass., February 20, 12.30 p. m.—There was a slight failure since morning in the condition of ex-Governor Robinson. Dr. Fritelle, his physician, says that if he were able to hold his own for the next forty-eight hours there was a slight chance of recovery, but he is unable to die at any time. But if he should get over the effects of this apoplectic stroke, he will never be the same man as he was before it happened.
The ex-governor is partially conscious and at times answers in monosyllables to questions from his family. At other times he pays no attention to what is taking place about him. One side of his head seems to be paralyzed from the hemorrhage that caused the stroke. All his family are at present at his sick bed.
Mrs. Robinson, his mother who is about 90 years old, his daughter Mrs. H. W.
Wright, his son Walter S. and his wife Mrs. George D. Robinson. The family are entirely prostrated and have about given up all hope of his recovery. Fellow members of the Hampden county bar and all this community are deeply grieved at the seriousness of his illness.
(Gov. Gov. Robinson is reported at 3 o'clock this morning as sinking rapidly.)

DEED OF A MANIAC.
A Woman in New York Kills Her Children
and Attempts Suicide.

New York, February 20.—Mrs. George R. Kelso of 148 West 98th street, this afternoon killed her two children, Estelle, 4-1/2 years old and Radford, 9-1/2, by shooting them with a revolver. She then attempted suicide by cutting an artery in her arm.
She is temporarily insane. The woman was placed under arrest.

Eight Men Killed.
Liverpool, February 20.—While a cage containing eight men was descending a colliery pit at Leigh, Lancashire, this morning the cables failed to work and the cage crashed to the bottom of the pit.
All the men in the cage were killed.

Politics

HAVE PRODUCED A UNIQUE CAM-PAIGN FAN.

Speaker Reed Leads a Procession of Candidates in Grotesque Attitudes—How the Jerseys Carried the Day at the World's Fair and Figured Again in a Debate in Congress—Maine People in Washington.

[SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.]
Washington, February 20.—Much has been said during the debates of the present Congress, about the competition
which may be expected from Japan,
where manufactured goods are produced at surprisingly low cost. An interesting example has been sent to Speaker Reed in the form of a campaign fan. The framework of the bamboo and the covering of paper, in the usual form of the Japanese fans long used in this country.

On one side of the fan are views of the White House, the Capitol, the coat of arms, the eagle and finally Columbia herself, with yellow hair and a blue gown. On the other side are the various candidates for the Republican nomination, prancing across the stage before a mighty audience. "Tom Reed" is the leader of the file, then "Levi Morton,"
"John Sherman," "Chauncy Depew,"
"Bill McKinley" and "Ben Harrison." The representation of the scene in the forms of Japanese art is decidedly funny. But the point is that these fans are laid down in the American market
at the surprisingly low price of two cents each.

During the past week there have been two field days on the agricultural appropriation bill, in the course of which battle was joined between the partisans of the two sides. As the bill is reported from the committee the bill carried an appropriation for compelling and publishing the record of the tests of dairy cows at the World's Fair at Chicago.
The point of order was made against it that it was new legislation, there being no law calling for such an appropriation. As an appropriation bill is supposed to allow money only for such objects as are provided for by law, the point of order was sustained, and the appropriation ruled out. The debate brought out the fact that there was beneath it all considerable jealousy between the fanners of different herds of cattle. It seems that the Jersey, Guernsey and Shorthorn cattle alone entered the World's Fair competition, while the Holstein and Anglos men stayed out.
The Jerseys carried off the prize. So there was a feeling that the publication of the report by the government would "boom" one kind of dairy cattle at the expense of another.

A Vessel in Trouble.
New Haven, Conn., February 20.—The schooner Lygonia left Elizabethport on the 18th for Providence with water pipe.
Last night while off Stamford she ran into a shoal and was badly damaged.
She lost her foremast and shifted her cargo, broke her pumps and suffered other damage. Late last night she anchored inside the breakwater, and early this morning rode heavily, dragged her anchor and went adrift. She was picked up by the tug Rambler and towed to her berth. It is probable a heavy sea to discharge her cargo and repair her.

WARD EIGHT.

The Argus should issue an explanation of that wonderful cartoon it published yesterday.

The management of the Denver opera house has adopted a rule that requires women to remove their hats or bonnets during the performance. Here is a hint that the management of the new Portland opera house may take.

The Jeannette relics which were found on the coast of Greenland and from which in large part Dr. Nansen deduced his theory of an Arctic current setting from the Siberian islands to the west coast of Greenland are alleged by Dr. Hall of the Smithsonian Institute, to have been prepared as a joke by some of the midshipmen of the United States steamer Yantic.

Barring one councillor in Ward, 8 the Republican ward tickets are now made up. They contain the names of able men, men well known and identified with the city's interests. Many of them have had experience in one of the branches of the City Council, and all of them, we believe, have a desire to promote the best interests of the city in every way in their power. They ought to receive the solid vote of the Republican party of this city on election day.

Ben Tillman's address in Providence the other night appears to have converted President Anderson of Brown University, to the South Carolina dispensary system. But it won't do to accept the representations of the advocates of particular methods of restraining the liquor traffic, without further investigation. Every method is perfect, or at least more nearly perfect than any other, in the opinion of its partisan friends, but experience with each and every one of them shows that they all fall far short of what has been expected of them.

Secretary Carlisle has refused to use his influence with the five Democratic members of the Kentucky legislature who persist in voting against Blackburn for Senator, to induce them to change their course. He puts his refusal upon the ground that these gentlemen know their duty better than he, and it would be impertinence on his part to read them a lecture. He might have added that it would be the grossest kind of inconsideration on his part to urge them to vote for a man who espouses free silver, which the Secretary has declared is obnoxious to the true Democratic faith and which he went into Kentucky to combat and defeat.

The widespread belief that the Republicans can this year elect almost any man and upon almost any platform, is liable to betray the national convention into unwise, and perhaps disastrous, action. The Democratic party is very weak at present, but it is not too weak to take advantage of Republican mistakes. Our election experiences of the last five or six years have shown that there is a vast body of voters in this country whose allegiance to any party is not strong, and who are ready to shift from one party to the other on slight provocation. A bad candidate would be likely to drive off these men, and so would an equivocating or ambiguous utterance on the great questions of the day. Especially to be avoided, is any coddling of the silver men, either by selecting a candidate at such election or throwing sops to them through the platform. Any such performances as either of these will alarm the sound money vote of the country, and enable the Democratic party which meets in national convention later, to attract them to its side. An extreme deliverance on the tariff is likely to be dangerous also, for while the great mass of the Republicans are in favor of protection to a reasonable degree they have no affection for the extreme kind that tends to cut off all healthful competition and create monopolies for great concerns.

The Argus discovered yesterday a special reason why we should elect Mr. Bird Mayor of Portland. Let us we may not be able to do justice to it we quote the Argus's description in these words: Independent of Mr. Bird's general qualifications for Mayor, there is one in particular which, in the present demoralized condition of the city, it would be folly for the friends of good order to overlook. When district attorney, it was his duty as a prosecuting officer of the United States to ferret out and bring before the bar of justice, all engaged in the unlawful traffic of intoxicants. This specialty constituted a very important department of his service and engaged a large portion of his time. How well and how efficiently he discharged his duty, and with what skill diligence and success he acquitted himself, one has only to refer to the record of the United States courts and to contemporaneous press reports to abundantly satisfy himself and the public. The business of detecting and successfully prosecuting offenders of the particular class referred to, is a specialty demanding skill and experience supplemented by fidelity to duty and loyalty to law and the public requirements.

Probably Mr. Bird will be as much surprised as anybody to learn that his chief business while district attorney consisted in, ferreting out and bringing to justice all engaged in the unlawful traffic of intoxicants. Doubtless he prosecuted some liquor sellers, not for selling liquors, however, but for failing to pay the special tax which the government imposes. But even these culprits, were ferreted out by somebody else. The Argus apparently thinks that it has a class of readers innocent and stupid enough to be deluded into the belief that it is the Max prohibitory law that Mr. Bird was enforcing, when district attorney, and as it appears, an appeal to the Ohio League to its statement which he has quoted, it evidently thinks the members of the League are among them. It is a pretty low view to take of their intelligence.

CURRENT COMMENT.

LET SPEAKER REED ALONE!

(New York Sun.)

The Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed may be found on every business day at his regular place of business, attending conscientiously to the duties with which he has been charged by the Fifty-fourth Congress. These are multitudinous and exacting enough to drive a nervous man crazy, and even to make a stupid man nervous. In addition to his ordinary functions as presiding officer of the House of Representatives, Mr. Reed is compelled by circumstances to handle the largest of subjects, an unwieldy partisan majority, composed of Republicans of widely different notions and interests, and including a large proportion of new members fresh from grass and frisky as young colts.

This is an enormous job, even for a statesman who is not also a candidate. Speaker Reed faces it with his accustomed tranquility of demeanor. Singly responsible for the preservation of Republican harmony in Congress in the year of a Presidential election, and for the maintenance of the interests of the whole party as against factional feuds or individual ambitions, he stands there at the head of the noble and majestic figure, his upper lip bared to the fury of the storm.

This aspect of Mr. Reed's candidacy is overlooked by our esteemed Republican contemporaries. The Speaker's position is in one important respect quite different from that of any of his competitors for the Republican nomination. They are free, most of them, to devote their undivided energies to the furtherance of their personal conceptions. They don't have to attend to the common cause. But he is loaded with their interests as well as his own. Morton and McKinley, and Allison and Quay all depend upon the Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed to hold the House well in hand, to keep all the Republican Congressmen in line, to suppress the fools and the light-bombs, and to wind up the session in a manner conducive to Republican success at the polls next November.

Mr. Reed, as Speaker, therefore, is not merely the representative of Mr. Reed's canvass for the Presidential nomination. He is also the Trustee of the fortunes and hopes of McKinley, Morton, Quay Allison and all the rest, if others there be. If the Speaker should devote too much thought to matters personal to himself, and too little attention to the general welfare of the party, and a crash and catastrophe should occur in his department of Republican politics, of how much value in November would be the nomination obtained in June by Mr. Morton, Mr. McKinley, Mr. Allison, Mr. Quay or any other chap whatsoever? Probably the Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed foresaw the altruistic responsibilities which his election as Speaker would thrust upon him, and accepted them in his large, serene way with his eyes fully open to their inconvenient character, considered from the point of view of mere selfish ambition. If he had been less of a Republican and more of a Reed man, we can well understand that he would have allowed some other fellow to wear himself out in the Speaker's chair for the sake of Mr. McKinley, Mr. Quay, Mr. Morton and Mr. Allison.

STATE TOPICS OF INTEREST.

Edwin, R. Gerald, one of Clinton's selectmen, the owner of a Jersey bull, met with an accident Sunday. While driving him into the barn he turned on Mr. Gerald with his horns and threw him by the side of the fence. His cries brought out his wife with the pitchfork, which attracted his attention until they got Mr. Gerald out of the yard. It was a narrow escape from death. Mr. Gerald is confined to his bed unable to move his head, or arms, his body being fearfully bruised.

This frigid weather is bringing out the reminiscences. So far the record is held by a Waldo county veteran, who remarks "I remember one cold snap way back in the forties. I'd brought in a big backlog to try to keep the family comfortable in the evening, and was sitting before it, thinking. All at once I noticed that something looked queer about that stick, and, will you believe it? While one end of that log was blazing and roaring as comfortable as could be, the sap that the fire had thawed out of the other end had frozen before it could get time to run down, and there it was all hardened into icicles."

In the action of the creditors of Webb & Briggs, the grocers who recently failed, against J. R. Briggs and Eugene Bailey, of Winthrop, under the statute, Governor Cleaves has been retained with Whittemore & Fisher, of Augusta, to conduct the defense, and each suit will be contested and vigorously defended. The compromise offer of 77 cents made on the part of the firm to the creditors will be withdrawn.

The Belfast Board of Trade reports that the Crosby Inn can be rebuilt on its old site for $28,000, including lot, and pay annual dividends of 8 1/2 per cent. A fifty-year mortgage for $20,000, at 6 per cent, and High and Miller agree to pay $20,000 to pay 6 per cent. The Crosby will rent for $1,800, and the other for $800. A committee was appointed to canvass for stock and report at a future meeting. It is hoped to have a hotel by July 1st.

Mayor Hanson, of Belfast, has received a letter from the Keating Wheel Co., of Holyoke, Mass., the company that is seeking another place to do business. They write that they want a building 800 feet long, 50 feet wide, with two floors, the whole to cost about $100,000.

The second tournament at checkers between Stockton Springs and Belfast, was played at the Elm City club room in Belfast Saturday. Belfast won at both tables, the score standing eleven games to the credit of Capt. Baker Charles, and three to Mr. Levi Griffin; six games for Mr. W. Brown and three for Mr. Levi Griffin.

Shadows of a Great City.

Shadows of a Great City is the attraction at the Portland theatre this evening and Saturday and matinee. The play is a strong melodrama, one of the strongest in fact, now on the boards. It is worthy of success, for one thing, because it is not repelling in its tragic parts nor coarse and trivial in its comedy elements. The story, too, is an interesting one, and that is an element that is lacking in too many of our emotional pieces. And to make this story as vivid and real as life, no better cast of characters could be formed than that now given. Miss Annie Ward Tiffany, who plays the part of the Irishwoman Biddy Ronan, is an actress who has done good work here before, and it is quite unnecessary to say that she is as good as possible in this clever bit of character acting. Miss Lottie Alter is a very attractive young woman who has not been long on the stage, but who shows decided talent. She is graceful and pleasing in the role of the heroine, Annie Standish. Mr. William Beach is an ideal Tom Cooper. Hon. and brave; and J. W. Jefferson (son of the renowned Joseph Jefferson) character acting in the part of Jim Farren, the convict, is good enough to call for comment. In picking out these specially prominent parts it must not be inferred that the rest of the company is not worthy of mention. It is owing to its general excellence that the performance holds the attention of the audience from beginning to end. Better scenic effects in a purely dramatic piece will seldom be seen.

Notes.

Wednesday and Thursday next "Oon Hollow" will be seen at Portland theatre and Friday and Saturday Caroline Miskell Hoyt in Hoyt's "Contented Woman."

Three of the five remaining Stockbridge entertainments are very expensive, and there will be no further discount on the tickets after the middle of next week.

The Minnie Palmer Company which is advertised to play at the theatre next Monday evening will not be able to keep the engagement. Word was received by Manager Truesbury yesterday afternoon that Miss Palmer is ill at Fall River.

Haskell & Jones have just received a new assortment of sizes in ladies' fine sweaters in plain and fancy styles. See them in our show window.

Corey's Fifth Annual Clearance Sale.

The Walter Corey Company will hold their fifth annual clearance sale for one week, commencing next Monday morning and will offer some of the finest bargains in furniture and draperies ever before shown in Portland. This is one of the oldest and best known furniture houses and everyone knows the quality of their goods and the opportunity should not be missed by bargain seekers. The store will be closed all day Saturday in order to arrange their immense stock for this sale.

WESTBROOK BURGLARS.

Arraigned In Deering Court and Bound Over.

OLD WASHBURN CARRIAGE FOUND IN WESTBROOK STABLE.

Astonishing Series of Burglaries—Remarkable Recklessness on the Part of the Burglars—The Case Reviewed—Carrier's Receipt in the Valley.

Yesterday, William Caron and William Carrier, the two Westbrook Frenchmen who were arrested by the Deering police charged with the recent burglaries, were brought before Judge Hopkins at Woodford, in the Deering Municipal court. They were arraigned on four counts, the looting of the Emerson house on Church street, involving three counts, as articles were stolen from Mrs. Emerson, her son and daughter, and the looting of the Anderson house at Windham, involving the other count.

They pleaded not guilty, waived examination and were bound over to the Superior court in $300 bonds for each count, making a total of $900. They were taken to the Portland jail yesterday afternoon by Marshal St. John.

The old Washburn carriage, stolen from the Emerson place was recovered yesterday. Mr. Pike, who keeps a livery stable at Westbrook, notified Marshal St. John that he had an old carriage that he obtained from Caron and Carrier, giving them a sleigh and $5 in exchange for it. It proved to be the Washburn carriage.

Yesterday the Emersons and Andersons identified many more articles obtained from the Frenchmen's homes as their property stolen from their houses.

The career of William Caron and William Carrier of Westbrook as house breakers appears to have been remarkable in the boldness and even recklessness with which they made a systematic business of burglary.

After their successful looting of the Emerson house on Church street, Deering, and the Anderson house in Windham, they apparently thought that they could steal as much and as often as they pleased with impunity.

The robbery of Charles Blake's house at Woodford early in the evening was one of the boldest criminal acts on record. It was probably done by one of these men, although there is as yet no proof of it. Mrs. Blake had left the house and left the key in the door. The house is next to Mr. Blake's dry and fancy goods store. Mrs. Blake told Mr. Blake that she had left the house alone with the key in the door. The thief was undoubtedly on the watch, and although Mr. Blake saw him enter and hastened to catch him, the fellow swept the silver ware from the dining room table by means of the table cloth and escaped through a back door before Mr. Blake could reach him. It was all done very quickly of course.

Apparently on last Friday night these men ran amuck, so to speak, in breaking and entering and stealing.

The goods taken were not valuable and the risk taken was very great. There was a recklessness about it that suggests a perfect abandon to the fascination for stealing; in fact, almost a frenzy.

There is evidence that connects these men with the burglary of the Stockbridge music store and Drake's jewelry store on Preble street.

When Mr. Stockbridge came to his store late that evening, he at first put the wrong key in the lock. The noise caused by this and the delay gave the men time to get close to the door and to dash out and escape when Mr. Stockbridge opened it. Apparently they went down Casco street to Cumberland and then to the store occupied by Drake's jewelry store and Love's harness shop. They broke into that and took the missing articles that had been previously mentioned. The value that was inside the big valise, found under the Caplice bridge, has been identified by Mr. Drake as having been taken from his store, as well as many of the articles found in it.

Then the two men apparently went direct from Drake's store out to Deering and attempted to break into Rand's grocery store at Oakdale, but were frightened away. Whether they were those men it is not proved, but soon after that they got onto the Deering car and were recognized by John Bowdoin, the conductor, as previously mentioned. Apparently they were not the men who broke into Raymond's drug store at Westbrook that night, for if the time has been correctly stated, they wouldn't have had time to reach Westbrook.

Appearances are very strong that one of the men was the man who fired the shots at the Westbrook car. That regular action would seem to indicate that the man was in an unnatural state of mind and certainly whoever took part in those burglaries that night was also in an unnatural state of mind. It is highly probable that the same men were engaged in both of those proceedings.

Besides the various articles of merchandise that were found in the valise that was under Caplice bridge, there was also found a receipt for jewelry signed by William Carrier. This important find was the first clue that led to the arrest. Apparently in transferring the small articles from his pockets to the valise, Carrier in his haste, pulled out this receipt with his name on it and thereby furnished the clue that led to his arrest. Marshal St. John accounts for this remarkable succession of burglaries by supposing that these men have hitherto been gamblers and working swindling games and selling liquor, etc., and that within the last year they have begun to steal, and have been so successful in escaping detection that they had been remarkably reckless and bold in their career.

of systematic robbery that has resulted in their very timely arrest and imprisonment.

Possibly somebody else has been associated with them in these burglaries, as all the facts of the burglaries are not yet accounted for.

About a month ago Caron was gone for a time awhile and when he returned was unusually flush with money. He stated to a friend that he had passed a forged $20 bill in Fall River and exhibited four other $50 bills which he said were counterfeit.

Yesterday several parties looked over the plunder to see if any of the property could be identified. Isaac M. Low identified a pair of horse clippers taken from his harness shop on Preble street. Mrs. Emerson identified some crockery and other household ware, Mrs. Anderson identified a silk dress, a sofa pillow, and some crockery and young Mr. Emerson identified the tools in the chest, which were opened yesterday.

—FORTY DIFFERENT BICYCLES.

Will be For Sale in Portland This Season—Seven Years Ago Only the Victim and Columbia Were For Sale Here.

The increase in the bicycle business is significantly shown by comparing the number of agencies in this city at the present time with those of a few years ago.

In 1888, only seven years ago, there were only two bicycles for sale in Portland, the Columbia, sold by C. H. Lamson, and the Victor, sold by E. S. Pendexter. In 1889, Robinson & Breen's agency for the Slinger bicycle made the third.

For the coming season there will be for sale in Portland at least 40 different makes of wheels, by 15 different agencies. Following is almost a complete list, there being two or three that are as yet uncertain:

H. W. McCausland is the agent for the Keating, Eagle, Warwick, Fowler, Wolf, American, Envoy, Fleetwing, Casco, Templar, Atlanta and Snell.

E. S. Pendexter, agent for the Victor and America.

George L. Briggs, agent for the Columbia, and the Hartford.

James Bailey, agent for the Sterling and the Union.

T. B. Davis Arms Co., agent for the Remington and the Drigo.

John P. Lovell Arms Co., who sell their own wheels, having two makes, the Lovell Diamond and the Excel, the latter being made at South Portland.

R. S. Davis & Co. are agents for the Dayton, the Elmore and the Ixion.

Kendall & Whitney, agents for the Spaulding and the Orendale.

Nelson Tenney & Co., agents for the Adlake, manufactured by the Adams & Westlake oil stove manufacturers of Chicago.

Owen, Moore & Co., agents for the Monarch and the Orient.

F. O. Bailey & Co., agents for the Stearns, the Crawford and the Pierce.

Hooper, Son & Leighton, agents for the B. & D. special.

E. L. Bailey, agent for the Ames.

Edward Haggett, agent for the Cleveland.

William Haggett will take charge of the E. H. Corson agency that will open on Middle street next month, and will have the Faultless and the Crescent.

SHOVEL YOUR SIDEWALKS.

Police Are Getting Weary of Complaints of Violating of This City Ordinance.

After every snow storm the police department receives numerous complaints that people do not shovel the sidewalks in front of their lots, but leave the snow for people to wallow through.

The city ordinances in regard to this matter state as follows:

Section 62.—The tenant or occupant, and in case there should be no tenant, the owner, or any person having the care of any building or lot bordering not more than 100 feet on any street, lane, court, square or public place within the city, where there is any foot walk or sidewalk, shall, after the ceasing to fall of any snow, if in the day time within three hours, and if in the night time, before ten o'clock of the forenoon succeeding, cause such snow to be removed from such foot way or sidewalk, and, in default thereof, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than $5, nor more than $10; and for each and every hour thereafter that the same shall remain on such foot way or sidewalk, such tenant, occupant, owner or other person, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than $1, nor more than $10; and for each and every hour thereafter that the same shall remain on such foot way or sidewalk for the space of 150 feet, according to the provisions and subject to the penalties aforesaid.

The police department received several complaints yesterday. They are getting tired of hunting up people and warning them that they are violating the city ordinances by their neglect. If this thing keeps on somebody will have to pay a fine pretty soon.

From Infancy To Old Age

Generation after Generation have used and blessed the Universal Family Remedy, the great muscle nerve,

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment

It was originated in 1810 by an old Family Physician, for Internal as much as External use, in his own private practice. Every Mother should have it in the house, dropped on sugar children love to take it for croup, colds, coughs, cramps and pains. It is safe, soothing, satisfying; so say sick, sensitive sufferers. Its electric energy everlastingly eradicates inflammation without irritation. The Doctor's signature and directions are on every bottle. It is recommended by all physicians. For over 80 years Johnson's Liniment has penetrated, healed and cured more diseases than any other remedy.

I have used your Anodyne Liniment in treating my infant (only six months old) for colic, and our little three year old daughter for summer complaint and found it excellent.

JOHN L. OLIVER, Americus, Georgia.

It cures all it is recommended to cure. I had a case of cholera last week, of a little girl who was not expected to live when I was called, but by giving her a few doses of your Anodyne Liniment she was entirely cured.

Decay.

The great engines of the body worn out, refusing to perform their natural function. The cause—disease, dissipation, overwork. The result is inability to nourish, build up, maintain. The end—a suspension of all faculties, a collapse, death, and from that which is very similar to starvation. In such cases follow Dr. B. Bush Field's, of Easton, Pa., advice, administer

Bovinine

He says of it; "While prison physician I used it on not only the weakened by disease, but those whose previous lives of exposure and neglect had completely broken down their constitutions. Physicians the world over endorse it as a food stimulant.

A WAR MEMENTO

Of the Early Days of the Great Rebellion.

Mr. Charles A. Eaton has a handbill issued on the Sunday after the evacuation of Fort Sumter by the United States forces under Major Robert Anderson, which was distributed about Portland, and drew an immense mass meeting to City hall the night of April 21st. The bill, framed, is at present in the possession of City Treasurer Libby. It reads as follows:

Citizens, Soldiers!
America's
No Sunday
in the midst
of Revolution.
Meet this Sunday Evening
April 21, 1861
at Market Square
at six o'clock, to consider
The Affairs of the Country
Boston is in Arms.
The Spirit of Seventy-six Inspires the People.
Let Portland Join Her Voice.

Deacon Rufus Deering.

(From The Morning Star.)

One of the most eminent laymen which the Free Baptist churches have ever known, after a long life of consistent and helpful Christian activities, has fallen asleep in death—to awake in heaven. Deacon Deering died at his home in Portland, Me., on the 4th inst. An appreciative obituary by his pastor, Rev. G. E. Cate, giving details of his life and departure, together with a portrait, will be found on the fourth page of this paper. Circumstances made Dea. Deering to the writing of these notes, one of the earliest distinctly remembered acts of Christian faith and works, and he accounts it a good providence that a man who combined so happily qualities of plain common sense with unswerving integrity and both the sturdy and the gentle qualities of Christian character, a combination which composed a fine unity even to the end—was constantly before him, in his neighborly relations and in church work, during the impressionable years of his youth and early manhood. Deacon Deering wielded large influence during life, and he wielded it for good. In death his memory is blessed. A letter before us says that his parents, on both sides, were of the strictest religious stock. The Deering line is one marked for the many men of integrity and Christian influence springing from it. Two women had strong molding influences over him—his mother and his first wife. He is said to have been "repetition of his mother—a quiet, firm woman of rugged, patient nature." One of his daughters says: "Our precious mother brought into his life a sweet graciousness and an abounding affection that shone through him in all his years." He was born in Scarborough, Me., at Pine Point, in the days when it was commonly called "Blue Point." His father was a man of straitened means, but his grandfather was a prosperous shipowner. He himself was long one of the best known lumber dealers in Maine. His religious life has been blessedly identified with the Portland Free Baptist church for many years. The various points at which he engaged in the general work of the denomination, are indicated in the obituary referred to. Few men are ever so manifestly in religious circles as he will be. He has "fought a good fight" and "kept the faith." May God give the churches more men like Deacon Deering.

MAINE TOWNS.

Items of Interest Gathered by Correspondents of the Press.

Cape Elizabeth.

Mrs. John Gibson, of Bowery Beach, who has been ill for some time past, and was thought to be improving, is at present very low.

The Bowery Beach postoffice has been removed to the store of Grant E. Wheeler.

Miss Inez C. Rand, who has been in Meiridon, Conn., for the past three years, has returned to her home in Pond Cove.

Mr. Harvey R. Maxwell, of Bowery Beach, who has been quite sick for the past week, is improving.

Miss Annie E. Files, of White Rock, is the guest of Miss Florence E. Dyer at the Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Staley, of Portland, spent Sunday with relatives at Pond Cove.

Mr. Walter C. Sweetser, of Pond Cove, is enlarging his stable.

Bridgton.

Bridgton, February 19.—Monday and Tuesday mornings were the coldest of the winter in this vicinity. Tuesday the thermometer registered 30 degrees below zero in some places.

Night crests are at work in the Pond-cherry and Forest mills and in the mill of the Bridgton Lumber Company, where one thousand cords of birch are to be sawed into spool strips while the snow lasts.

The Lincoln celebration was postponed two weeks on account of the absence of Rev. Mr. Walker in this village, who is furnished by a gasoline engine, which is quite a curiosity, as it is the first one to be set up hereabouts.

John C. Pillsbury of West Bridgton, sustained a bad fracture of one leg last week.

Miss Clara Nourse, principal of Primary B, was absent from her school Monday on account of sickness.

Sherman.

Sherman Mills, Feb. 20.—The thermometer was 30 degrees below zero Monday morning and 43 degrees below Tuesday morning. One of the coldest ever known here at this time of the year. We have now over two feet of snow, sufficient to make business lively all around.

The present season. The distance is three and one half miles on an easy route to town. It will be a great benefit to the town and it is thought the town will accept the offer.

Potatoes are 60 cents for rose and 35 cents for hebrons per barrel, at the stations.

The Free High school is progressing finely with over 60 scholars registered, taught by Mr. O. E. Perkins, who is assisted by Miss Geneva Caldwell of this town.

Pownal.

North Pownal, February 19.—The drama "Uncle Josh" was presented at Golden Cross hall last week, was a success in every way. It was repeated at West Pownal Monday evening and at Pownal Centre on Tuesday evening of last week.

Rev. Mr. Hinkley and wife are receiving congratulations on the birth of a little daughter.

Master Harry Tryon of Portland is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tryon.

School closed here Saturday after a successful term. It is with much regret that we part with Miss Ames, who has returned to her home in Skowhegan. We hope we may have her with us again.

The Ladies' Aid will give a social in Golden Cross hall this evening. All are invited.

Little Women's Ball.

No association of young people is more deserving of support in their entertainments than the Little Women. The ball to be given at City Hall this evening, Feb. 21st, will prove a most enjoyable affair, and also add a most worthy charity. The Invalids' Home is the institution to which the proceeds of the ball will be appropriated.

Winter Reunions.

The Alumni Association, of Westbrook Seminary, will welcome the graduates and friends of the Institution in the parlors of Hersey Hall this evening, Feb. 21st, from eight to ten o'clock. A pleasing entertainment of music and reading has been provided. The alumni badge is pink carnation. All former students and graduates are invited.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

Nominate H. W. Straw for Mayor Last Evening.

The adjourned caucuses of the Prohibitionists was held at Reform Club hall last evening. Rev. S. F. Pearson presided and called the meeting to order.

Mr. Daniel P. Parker said he thought the only business of importance before the meeting was the nomination of a candidate for mayor. There has been a great deal of outside speculation as to what the Prohibitionists propose doing.

What the outside world says or thinks we do not care. We ought to settle our matters among ourselves pleasantly. It has been said that we intend to endorse Mr. Bird, and by others that we would make no nominations. To test the feeling of the caucus Mr. Parker said he would ask for an informal vote to see if the caucus should nominate a candidate for mayor.

The question was put and the informal vote resulted in a decision to nominate a mayor, 13 to 3.

Mr. Parker then presented the name of Henry W. Straw as the candidate for mayor and the vote resulted 9 to 1 in his favor, and he was declared the nominee of the caucus.

Mr. Parker then said that nothing remained but the completion of the ticket by the nomination of the ward tickets and these gentlemen were nominated:

The committee was authorized to fill vacancies and the caucus adjourned.

There were about 25 of the party present at the caucus.

Mr. Straw, the candidate for mayor, was born in Garland, is 53 years of age and moved to Portland 30 years ago. He is a plumber by trade and was inspector of plumbing under Mayor Baxter.

A NEW GRANT STORY.

The Scene is Laid in Iowa, Before the War

(Chicago Times-Herald.)

"Mr. McCarrin was a red headed, rushing young fellow, and he had a friend named Van Horn," said T. B. Reid of the Appleton Post. "They were dealers in pork and farm produce at Bellevue, Iowa. A year or two before the war a quiet, methodical man appeared in town and proceeded to fit up a place for receiving and storing dressed hogs. That meant opposition to McCarrin and his friend Van Horn. They deliberated with faces in their hands and finally hit upon a plan. They would scour all that portion of the country whose farmers would be apt to market their dressed hogs at Bellevue and purchase the entire stock. The stranger's name was Grant, Captain U. S. Grant, of Galen. His place was thrown open for business early one morning, and about 9 o'clock all of the roads leading to town were dotted with

STRENGTH FROM FOOD.

But the Food Must be Digested.

There is no way to get strong without food. Food is the strength maker. Just enough food, properly digested, makes the strong and healthy man or woman. Too much, too little, or even the right quantity, not digested, will make anybody weak.

The beginning of all sickness is weakness. The beginning of all weakness is indigestion. So to keep strong, look after your digestion. That is the most important point of all.

When your food ferments in your stomach and forms gas, causes dizziness, nausea, bad taste, sick headache, full feeling, nervousness, irritability, etc., you have indigestion. You are losing a part of your life. Every hour you are sick causes a loss of strength.

The way to cure it is to take Shaker Digestive Cordial. A few doses will relieve. If you take it long enough you will regain the strength you have lost.

Shaker Digestive Cordial is made from herbs and plants by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. H. It contains very strong digestive tonic properties. It treats the stomach. It makes your food make you strong and bright and healthy. It clears your complexion and strengthens your body against disease. If you want to get strong and well, try it.

Sold by all druggists at 10, 25, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

farmers' teams bearing numerous dressed hogs. Captain Grant evidently thought that business was going to open up in great shape. McCarrin and Van Horn thought so, too. Both firms were on deck to do bidding. Grant would bid a reasonable price and the young fellows would put on a price and a half. So it went all day. Captain Grant soon discovered that he could not buy Iowa hogs and make any money, so he shut up his place, paid his bills and went back to Galena.

Both McCarrin and Van Horn went into the army. Mr. Reid vouches for the truth of the story. The young gentlemen, while laboring on a line of works, saw and saluted General Grant. The general looked at them sharply and asked if he had not met them somewhere else. McCarrin said: "Yes, General, my friend here and I were in that hog deal at Bellevue, the time you quit business suddenly."

It is said that General Grant removed his cigar long enough to indulge in a hearty laugh and role away. In this regard, McCarrin, after the war, was for a number of years editor of the Maquoketo (Iowa) Excelsior.

"DOCTOR, CAN I SMOKE?"

How One Physician Answers the Question.

(Medical Record.)

Under the title of "The Indications and Contraindications for the Use of Tobacco by the Sick and Convalescent," Dr. L. Jankau has published an article in which he tries to answer the question so often asked by patients and convalescents—"Doctor, can I smoke?"

Dr. Jankau does not attempt to discuss the problem whether healthy people can smoke, but confines himself to the relations of tobacco to the invalid.

The employment of tobacco, he says, is to be forbidden in all surgical operations and long convalescence after operations, except those practised upon the eyes, the abdomen and the bladder. He would prescribe tobacco also in affections of the throat and pharynx, and with certain restrictions, in nasopharyngeal catarrh.

As regards internal maladies, he says one should never forget the toxic action of tobacco, so that in acute and serious diseases it should never be allowed—a precaution which is hardly needed, since in most cases where patients are very ill, they quickly lose their taste for tobacco.

To particularly the indications and contraindications, Dr. Jankau writes, "that tobacco should be absolutely forbidden in peritonitis, typhitis and perityphilitis. Affections of the stomach do not form an absolute contraindication. This opinion, as a critic in the 'Bulletin Generale de Therapeutique' truly says, is quite open to dispute. It is certain that tobacco smoking in excess will produce 'heartburn' and various forms of dyspepsia; indeed, Dr. Jankau himself later states that he does not believe in the beneficial action of cigars after a meal. Subjects affected with organic disease of the heart do not ordinarily support tobacco well; at the same time, the depression exerted by tobacco on the light cigars a day. As to pulmonary affections, the author allows his anti-septic views to have a good deal of weight in guiding his judgment. On the score of the proven fact that tobacco smoke has an undoubted influence in suppressing the development of bacilli, he rather advises smoking for those persons who are in the initial stage of tuberculosis. His reasons are: the disinfecting action of tobacco upon the mouth, the depression exerted by tobacco upon the genital functions; furthermore, the favorable sedative influence of this drug upon the central nervous system. Besides that, he thinks that it tends to take away the attention of patients from themselves and make life seem more agreeable to them. Even slight hemoptyses are not absolute contraindications for the use of tobacco. While on this subject, the author falls to note the pretty well tested fact that smoking causes one to get rid of the seizures of nervous asthma. In syphilis, he thinks that one should try to avoid only the abuse of tobacco, both as to quantity and quality. In nervous affections, the author again would simply recommend that the amount of smoking be very carefully controlled, the number of cigars and their strength being of great importance. In cardiac nervousness, particularly, the greatest circumspection is to be employed. In gastric nervousness, tobacco should be out of entirely. Persons who are subject to organic affections of the nervous system can smoke with caution. As for smoking during the convalescence, no set of rules can be laid down. The author does not take into account, we think, sufficiently the question of age in the matter of smoking. It seems to be pretty well agreed that if a person has reached a fairly good old age as a smoker, he can continue the habit without much injury, even though he be crippled with various chronic disorders, or even if he have a stroke of apoplexy and make from it a reasonably good recovery. On the other hand, permissive advice as to smoking during the first twenty-five years of life is to be given with great caution. Dr. Jankau is a rather liberal smoker himself, and we fancy he is something of a smoker himself.

THE DIVINE MELBA.

America's Great Prima Donna Still With Us.

AND WILL APPEAR IN ITALIAN GRAND OPERA

A Word from the Peerless Songstress.

Who is there in this country or Europe that has not heard of Melba? Society has raved over her, the musical world is at her feet, and all the civilized world has rung with praise of this lovely and beloved prima donna. Last winter during the season of grand opera, which was very trying on her system, it was that she had recourse to JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT, and so speedy and effectual was the cure that Melba now declares she is never without it.

Hear what she has to say about the best nerve tonic and digestive remedy ever discovered: "I highly commend the genuine JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT. I use it with my daily diet. It improves my appetite and digestion wonderfully."

Ask for the Genuine JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT. All others are worthless.
